And by sharing this post, you'll be giving the Coca-Cola brand the opportunity to push out content that you may be interested in the next time you open your social media. Also, the tagline for the campaign is: "Tell a friend about Coca-Cola." It will be interesting to see how many people do. If you want to get on the list for fun, sign up here: To recap, Coca-Cola is essentially giving followers the choice of tweeting to Coca-Cola about how much they love Coke or about Coke thanks to Coca-Cola. It's a clever campaign that invites engagement on a grand scale and one that could be rolled out on other social networks. Thursday, September 5, 2011 If you have an Internet connection, you might be vaguely aware of the World Cup. It's going on right now, right? Right. Oh, you don't know about it. That' e79caf774b

Is there anything I can do to repair the iTunes library on my iPhone or iPod Touch? I have plenty of songs and playlists, but the iPod has been acting up for a while. Connect it to my computer and it says that the iPod is lost. I tried to sync my iPod to iTunes, but it says that it can't connect because of an error. I have tried the steps listed on Appleâ€™s website, but it still wonâ€™t work. Can't sync iPod with iTunes. UPDATE: (after reading all of your comments) I have 1.5 GB of music and i was just over the 15 GB limit that my iPod Touch allows. I had already deleted some music that I thought I didnâ€™t need, but I noticed that a couple of videos were still in my video library and the music l'd deleted was still in the Music Library. I deleted the videos and they went through fine, so I deleted the music and that did the trick. Itâ€™s still not working (in iTunes) but that is a small thing now. I still canâ€™t create a new playlist, nor can I add any more music, so lâ€™m not worrying about that. Thanks for the responses! A: I suspect the problem might be a corrupted library on the iPod. When your iPod Touch "disappears" the music it keeps on it is still in your iTunes library on your computer (assuming you've put the iPod on your computer for sync purposes). You can run the following script from a Terminal window in OS X to purge all the music on your iPod Touch from your iTunes library: rm -rf ~/Music/iTunes\ Media After that, you should be able to sync the iPod to iTunes and also create new playlists. A: I have encountered this problem before but when I deleted all the music on the iTune ( i had about 3 gb of music) and tried to sync it, it worked. the student community and students across Canada.
