That the precise time of initiation and the dose are critical must be gleaned from this case. The appellant next contends that the state must prove that the act was consensual and that it was neither coerced nor physical compulsion was involved, citing W. LaFave and A. Scott, Handbook on Criminal Law (1972). In this case the trial judge made a finding that the act was consensual. It is true that "mere fondling or having relations with a female child is not statutory rape,... unless there is an element of force or coercion." W. LaFave and A. Scott, supra at 236-37. Even here, however, the mere presence of an unwilling female does not constitute rape. The authorities are not in accord as to whether, for the purpose of establishing that an act constitutes statutory rape, the female must be conscious or aware of the act, as defined in other contexts, or must have such capacity, as defined in other contexts. This court has found that such capacity is required in some cases but not in others. Most important, however, is that "force or coercion" must be established. Id. In this case there is no testimony whatever

What's new:

• We look back at previous installments, go over the changes made to this round, and take our first deep dive into the new format • The groups and teams have been named • We also take a look at the so-called HotS players who were banned and missed the round • We explore the community's innovative strategies for boosting us hatcheries • We also look at the pros and cons of the new portraits! • We begin by talking about the changes made by the Round of 16 and preview the top eight, run by TLPD and indymo who take on Code S-44 MVP Pokebunny and Code S-44 MVP Tefel • We show off some of the best drone kills in Code S • We also take a look at some amazing spire builds, discuss what we think will be the most dominant strategy in the tournament, and break down bans • Finally, we look back on the previous Code S to try to predict which players might advance from each group Round of 16 Previews and Breakdown • We quickly go over each group, and who we expect to advance to the quarterfinals, and who we expect to the round of eight with our thoughts on each team • We go over the changes to this season's Code S compared to last season, and what we think of the changes. We also review the changes made to All-Kill and RoX.KIS to see how it worked out in the previous season of Code S • We will have a detailed breakdown of Code S-44's Ro12 groups next week [The Starcraft II Code S season begins May 9, and it will last a month and a half until the final.
