Intermediate Comprehension Passages: Chelsea's cooling towers at its Kings Cross power station are producing hundreds of thousands of free cooling bottles per week from the team's bottle-collection drive. The 'Green Collection' bottles can be found in the bins all over London. You might not know it, but they are free. The energy giant produces more than one gigawatt of electricity and it says the power station will produce more than 3,500 tonnes of carbon dioxide a year. Giles Read, of Chelsea FC, said: "We are using the power station to create bottles for the general public." He added: "With the Chelsea helicopter's green drive we're filling the lids with Chelsea drinking water bottles. It's a really environmentally responsible way of collecting glass.♦
