In this column, you'll discover great sweets and indulgent treats, including the world's best chocolate chip cookies, pizza and ice cream, the best dessert recipes, the best honey and chocolate, and more. So indulge yourself and get ready for cookie crumbs on your chin. The topic for today's baking lesson is white chocolate. It sounds like an oxymoron, doesn't it? Of course, it should. But let's be honest here: white chocolate is every baker's dream. It's as good at white chocolate fondue as it is at tiramisu. It's a perfect partner to blueberry pie. White chocolate powder exists in liquid form. You just stir it into ice cream or coffee. I know you all know that, but you'll learn something new today, like the fact that white chocolate is as easy to mix as cookie dough. Let's explore the world of white chocolate, shall we? White Chocolate is the First Course White chocolate is not just a dessert. Here's the thing: It's the ideal first course. It's delicate and sweet, like all the best desserts. It's full of chocolate and cream, and it needs no accompaniment to be perfect. I call it the blank canvas. White chocolate is a blank canvas for other sweets. But white chocolate can be made more complex, just like the best desserts. It can be used to create the most exquisite pralines or fondues or ramekins. White chocolate can be doused in
